

OPEN STUDIO

Milliken™

Free your inner artist to create. Introducing the Open Studio collection, a tribute to artistic experimentation and time-honored techniques. The driving force behind this collection encourages a hands-on, artistic approach to design—an open space to create something new. Pulling from several multimedia techniques such as plaster and printing, art mediums have been translated into innovative carpet designs. With four neutral patterns and one color-forward pattern, we invite you to take on the role of an artist and bring your design vision to life.

CUES FROM THE MASTERS

HALFTONE

Halftone draws from the delicate dot patterns used in screen printing to suggest imagery without fully defining it. Soft layers faded in and out, creating a gentle rhythm of tonal shifts—like a print in quiet focus, where the image is more felt than seen.

Overlay channels the layered process of screen printing, where each pass adds depth, texture, and imperfect alignment. Translucent forms overlap in a rhythmic grid, creating a pattern that feels both methodical and handmade—like ink settling into fabric, one screen at a time.

OVERLAY

PRIMER

Primer takes its cue from an artist's primed canvas—subtle, textured, and alive with potential. Layers of soft neutrals combine in a subtle, tonal wash to create a surface that feels open and atmospheric. 'Primer' is a blank slate brushed with just enough pigment to suggest depth, movement, and beg the question, 'what's next?'

Inspired by a painter's brushwork, bold strokes evoke a sense of movement as quick gestures meld with softer, organic shapes. Deliberate imperfections in the pattern—like a canvas left mid-process—evoke the spontaneity of mark-making in a modern, abstract painting.

CANVAS

MEET THE ARTIST

Todd Van Der Kruik

With Open Studio, I wanted to capture the creative energy of the studio—the mess, the movement, the quiet moments of inspiration. Each pattern draws from the tools and techniques I love: bold brushstrokes, layered screen prints, subtle textures that feel handmade. The result is a collection that feels expressive and modern, with a sense of process built into every design.
